hours. We cannot in the nature of things ever expect to behold him again in this our land; it is a sad thought yet there is our consolation he leaves an imperishable memory behind, may he be again to see his earthly home once more, and ^{long} enjoy the recollections of his visit to the country. I hope that I shall see America before I die I should like to be able to say to Mr. Garrison, Sir we have lived to behold another victory for humanity, let us rejoice and give glory to God, and I am sure no man would more heartily rejoice than he would.
I trust you will pardon my trespass upon your creations for it will to make out my sad scrawl, hoping you are well, may I beg as a favour that you Remember to the several Ladies I had the honour of meeting with in Bristol Yours Most Respectfully that I have had an active time of it since I saw you my out doors work has been very satisfactory alltho very hard work, I had not the Pleasure of meeting Mrs Butler when in Lpool nor had she the Pleasure of meeting with Mr Loyd Galt But my wife had the happiness of an introduction it was to her one of the Proudest Moments of her life to shake Hands with one who had filled her mind with a grand idea of what a Christian Hero really is. his words are ever ringing in her ears. I was much surpris'd to find she had been introduced to Mr Garrison thro Mr Barnes who introduced her at the Memorial Hall Meeting, I see he has been at New York he must work, he cannot forget that there is yet a bondage from which Men and women must be liberated. and he will work while yet it is day. his long night alas cannot be fan off, at least as far as this world is concerned when he is carried away from our

Miss Estlin

Dear friend I beg to acknowledge the Receipt of your favour of the 29 of July which I would have answered sooner but for illness I have been suffering from interrenal inflammation which has brought me under the Doctors Hands who says I am out of danger. I trust you and all the kind friends I met with in Bristol as well, you will find by the Journal of this month
